

Video Podcast & Webinar Citation Examples for APA 7th Ed.

All entries on a References page should be double-spaced. To save room, our examples have not been double-spaced.

Video podcast series

Boilen, B. (Host). (2008-present). Tiny desk [Video podcast]. NPR.
<https://www.npr.org/series/tiny-desk-concerts/>

Host's Last Name, First Initial. Middle Initial. (Host). (Year-Year). Title of podcast series [Video podcast].
Production Company. URL

(Include the names of all hosts if a podcast has more than one host. If the series is still airing, replace the second year with the word "present." As of the creation of this document, Tiny Desk is still airing.)

Video podcast episode, no episode number, viewed on a website

Boilen, B. (Host). (2020, June 15). Alicia Keys: Tiny desk concert [Video podcast episode]. In Tiny desk. NPR.
<https://www.npr.org/2020/06/15/875430577/alicia-keys-tiny-desk-concert>

Host's Last Name, First Initial. Middle Initial. (Host). (Date podcast episode aired). Title of podcast episode (No. #, if available) [Video podcast episode]. In Title of podcast series. Production Company. URL

(If the podcast has an episode number, enter the number in Citation Maker, and "No." – which is an abbreviation for number – will automatically precede the number in the citation.)

Video podcast episode, two hosts, with episode number, viewed on YouTube Tyson, N. d., & Mecurio, P. (Hosts). (2019, November 7). Cosmic queries: Planets and stuff (No.

46) [Video podcast episode]. In StarTalk. StarTalk Radio. <https://youtu.be/0F9fVq-qSD4> Host1's Last Name, First Initial. Middle Initial., & Host2's Last Name, First Initial. Middle Initial. (Hosts). (Date podcast episode aired). Title of podcast episode (No. #, if available) [Video podcast episode]. In Title of podcast series. Production Company. URL

(APA instructs you to write the author / host's name exactly as it is written in the source. Therefore, for Neil deGrasse Tyson, the "d" for the middle initial is lowercase.)

NOTE: This is a YouTube video, but it is also a video podcast. Should this video be cited using Citation Maker's Video Podcast option or Other Online Video (YouTube) option? APA is not clear what to do in this situation. We recommend using the Video Podcast option for several reasons. See the explanation under the citation for “Webinar, recorded, viewed on YouTube” below.

For comparison, this is what the citation would look like if you used the Other Online Video (YouTube) option on the Video Recording template on Citation Maker:

StarTalk. (2019, November 7). Cosmic queries: Planets and stuff [Video]. YouTube. <https://youtu.be/0F9fVq-qSD4>

Webinar, recorded, one instructor, viewed on a website

May, E. (2020, April). An inside look: Native plants & pollinators. [Webinar]. Audubon New York. <https://ny.audubon.org/events/inside-look-monthly-birdy-webinar-series>

Instructor’s Last Name, First Initial. Middle Initial. (Date posted). Title of webinar [Webinar]. Production Company. URL

(Use this option to cite a recorded webinar that is posted online. If you watched a live webinar that was not recorded, do not cite it in your reference list because others cannot retrieve the information, but do mention it in your paper. Enter the specific date from the source: the year, the month and year, or a full date.)

Webinar, recorded, three instructors, viewed on YouTube

Feliciano, S., Warnes, R., & McMaster, J. (2020, August 20). Everything you ever wanted to know about adopting a pet. [Webinar]. Animal Care Centers of NYC. https://youtu.be/P_1muNnrBrQ

Instructor1’s Last Name, First Initial. Middle Initial., Instructor2’s Last Name, First Initial. Middle Initial., & Instructor3’s Last Name, First Initial. Middle Initial. (Date posted). Title of webinar [Webinar]. Production Company. URL

NOTE: This is a YouTube video, but it is also a recorded webinar. Should this video be cited using Citation Maker’s Webinar option or Other Online Video (YouTube) option? APA is not clear what to do in this situation. We recommend using the Webinar option for three reasons:

1. The YouTube video is clearly labeled as a webinar. By using the Webinar option, the more specific description [Webinar] will appear in the citation, unlike the YouTube option, for which the description would be [Video].
2. The Animal Care Centers of NYC produced the webinar. By using the Webinar option, you will credit that group, unlike the YouTube option, which credits the streaming service – YouTube.
3. The webinar instructors / presenters are responsible for the content. By using the Webinar option, you can credit them, unlike the YouTube option, which credits the person or group who uploaded the video. In this case, that would be the vague ACC NYC.

For comparison, this is what the citation would look like if you used the Other Online Video (YouTube) option on the Video Recording template on Citation Maker:

ACC NYC. (2020, August 20). Everything you ever wanted to know about adopting a pet. [Video]. YouTube. https://youtu.be/P_1muNnrBrQ
